

2024-2025 Edition

- 2024-25 Call

The Coimbra Group is pleased to launch the call for the 9th edition of the Coimbra Group Three-Minute-Thesis (CG 3MT) Competition.

As a preliminary step to the official registration in the competition, the International School for Postgraduate Studies (EIP) requests that any student interested in participating send an expression of interest to the email address actividadesdoctorado@ugr.es

The email must include name and ID/passport and expressing interest in participating.

Deadline to apply: 20th october 2024

Please remember the general requirements to participate:

- Be enrolled in any of the PhD program of the University of Granada in the 2024-2025 academic year, EXCEPT those enrolled for the first time.
- Have submitted and approved the Research Plan.
- It is recommended that your thesis be in an advanced state and that you have results from your research.

Please note that if you submit an expression of interest now, you still will have to register for the competition in the officially established manner, which you will be informed about later.

All participants will join a practical course on Scientific Communication and up to thirty of them will have their monologues revised by expert English language professors, as well as follow an specialized course in English to prepare their participation.
