Descripción de la actividad

The poster for the SD2: Digital Society Summer School features a large stylized 'S' logo with '2023' inside. Text includes: 'SD2: Digital Society', 'Security and Protection of Rights International School', 'September 26th-29th, 2023', 'INTERNATIONAL DOCTORAL SUMMER SCHOOLS', 'UNIVERSITY OF GRANADA', 'Deadline to submit papers: July 20th 2023', 'International School for Postgraduate Studies (ISP) University of Granada', 'iugres/sd2school', and 'iugres/summerschools'. A QR code and the University of Granada logo are also present.

The SD2 International Doctoral Summer School is a four-day event where leading scholars address the ethical and legal implications of AI in various fields such as privacy, governance, liability, human rights or digital transformation. The Doctoral Summer School aims to provide doctoral candidates with feedback that improves their research project or research papers as well as provide them with unique professional and personal development opportunities beyond what they are generally exposed to in the course of their PhD training. By creating an exceptional and international, intercultural and interdisciplinary meeting of bright young minds, the SD2 Summer School creates a highly stimulating learning experience which is of long lasting value to the participants' future careers, fostering the creation of a long lasting peer -network.
